

Are We a Match?

Andrew McLean, MD, MPH

I'm not sure where
to rank your program.
Your faculty were nice enough
though I felt I had wandered into someone else's party.
The motel was fine and my cab driver
was the friendliest person. On my entire trip.
The residents seemed stressed but assured me it was just a busy week,
unusually so.
Your secretary kept getting my name wrong,
but you gave me the impression that I was a great candidate
(I bet you say that to all the boys ...)
I don't know. I'm a little uneasy ...
Everyone says, "listen to your gut."
I don't have butterflies of excitement
but it's not like I've got C. diff either.
More like "a little dyspepsia,"
as Grandma would say.
Grandma would also tell me to drink some green tea, lie down
with a heating pad on my stomach,
and drop your program
a notch or 2.

Andrew McLean, MD, MPH, is Clinical Professor and Chair, University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences.

Corresponding author: Andrew McLean, MD, MPH, University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences, 1919 Elm Street North, Fargo, ND 58102, 701.293.4113, andrew.mclean@med.und.edu

DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.4300/JGME-D-17-00558.1>